Chamberlain & Taylor,

WILL ROOT GET OUT?

Has Given an Ultimatum to the President Who Understands Him.

WAS SNUBBED BY HAY

He Will Not Be Played With Again But Will Resign.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, Aug. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Secretary of War Root will resign. He will resign before the Philippine situation is cleared up. He will be forced to abandon his post in Manila if he does not protect himself by early resignation.

He has seen this. He has freely communicated his views as well as his intentions to the president. The alternate of leaving with Root is the one which is tendered to the president to prevent Root doing what ex-postmaster Garis did when humiliated by Secretary of the Treasury Gage, with the consent of the president, or the shameful insult placed on the heavy head of John Sherman by Mark Hanna, by permission of the president. Root will not tolerate it. He has intimated his ultimatum. He did it last Tuesday at Plattsburg, N. Y. He gave it to the president in person and the president understood him. Root is not the man to be juggled with. He is not the man to be played with.

The announcement of his threat to resign at once was brought forth by the snub Secretary of State Hay gave him in connection with the policy lately announced as that of this country toward any nation recognizing the Philippines as at war instead of its insurgents. The attitude of resentment now held by Root was evidenced by the refusal of treasury to give him the administration favor.

It was made plain by the president disavowing any knowledge and confessing inability to avoid it.

Root has come out that Secretary Root was not selected as a permanent official of the administration, even a cabinet officer—but rather as an additional attorney general with duties restricted to questions of war and peace, and complications and springing from the new relations of the colonial positions or defenses.

When the resignation of Secretary of War Root was announced, it was a surprise to many. Root was a man of high standing and had been in the cabinet for some time. His resignation was a surprise to many. Root was a man of high standing and had been in the cabinet for some time. His resignation was a surprise to many.

The president wanted to name John A. McKim, of New York, as Alexander McKim, first secretary of the consolidated banks of New York city. After protest, McKim was not named. crises by the different countries trading therein, with which we were at peace and in treaty relations, that to submit one-half to the war department and find the conclusion of diplomacy in the attitude of the war department would soon involve the whole subject of our policy toward the great nations have to be surrendered. Besides the possibility of the parent country becoming a national war with any of the great nations.

All this was pointed out. It was demonstrated how the position of secretary of war, for the first time since Stanton, called for individuality; how only the great lawyer could cope with it; how the disposition of those questions would make famous and immortal the war department and international lawyer who would now occupy the place. Also in alluring undertones Root was seduced to observe how from this position of prominence he would ascend to the throne of the logical candidate for the vice presidency. McKinley from Ohio, New York man, was the president, as Morton to Harrison in 1888. Also that this was the surest way to snuff the light of the great nation's eyes often flashing over Platt's horizon.

What planter? What more beguiling to Root, who had been in the cabinet for some time, was the position of secretary of war, for the first time since Stanton, called for individuality; how only the great lawyer could cope with it; how the disposition of those questions would make famous and immortal the war department and international lawyer who would now occupy the place.

In the meantime Hay, who came to the department of state, only told the diplomatic science. He knew no other way of dealing with the situation. He was a man of high standing and had been in the cabinet for some time. His resignation was a surprise to many.

So he was allowed unimpeded to do as he pleased. He was a man of high standing and had been in the cabinet for some time. His resignation was a surprise to many.

AGAINST DREYFUS

A Large Part of Today's Testimony Is Against the Prisoner.

LABORI IS IMPROVED

Gen. Gonz Is Convinced That Dreyfus Is the Guilty Man.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Paris, Aug. 19.—The condition of M. Labori, chief counsel for Capt. Alfred Dreyfus, who was shot from amnesia on Monday last, is further improved this morning.

Paris, Aug. 19.—No special incident occurred this morning when the trial of Capt. Dreyfus was resumed. The first witness called today was Maj. Cuignet, formerly attached to the ministry of war, the witness, who declared he was convinced of the prisoner's guilt, was cross-examined by M. Demange, of the defense, who succeeded in pointing out that several of his statements contradicted his previous positions.

The president of the court, Col. Maistre, asked Dreyfus if he had anything to say, whereupon the prisoner rose and again vehemently protested against the denunciations leveled against him, an innocent man.

Gen. de Boisdeffre was the next witness called.

A MANIFEST LIE. Dreyfus Thus Characterizes an Assertion of Maj. Cuignet.

Paris, Aug. 19.—Maj. Cuignet, the first witness called, was not in uniform, as he is not at present attached to any corps.

Before testifying an account of the investigation of the Dreyfus case, which was ordered by the ministry of war, from M. Cuignet to M. de Boisdeffre, chief of the staff, to mention a pertinent fact which, in connection with the evidence already heard, will constitute fresh proof of the prisoner's innocence.

had shown it to the court in behalf of the ministry of war. Therefore, witness claimed Col. Schneider's contradiction was really addressed to the French government. (Sensation.)

Besides, added Cuignet, "I wish to point out that the attaché issuing the denial is a person of somewhat less consequence than his allies. It is therefore, possible that this denial was imposed upon him." (Renewed sensation.)

Maj. Cuignet, the government's commissary, at this juncture said he thought it desirable to remark, as the representative of the government, that he must not be understood to endorse all Maj. Cuignet had said with reference to "foreign military officer who at the present moment held a diplomatic appointment in France." (Sensation.)

Replying to M. Demange, Cuignet insisted that if Henry committed forgery, "it was in the interests of the country."

To this statement counsel retorted: "You did not say that to the court of cassation."

At the request of M. Demange, the judge's deposition before the court of cassation relating to Henry's motives and Patty de Clam's share in the preparation of the forgery was read. It showed that Cuignet emphatically declared before the court of cassation that he was convinced an investigation would easily show that Patty de Clam was the principal author of the Henry forgery.

Do you adhere, asked counsel, "to all said before the court of cassation?"

This question greatly perplexed the witness, who replied by saying "he was only assenting at that time, and that it was not for him to judge Patty de Clam."

M. Demange pointed out that in spite of the many arguments Maj. Cuignet had advanced against Patty de Clam, the military judge, threw out the case. This, he argued, will be able to convince the court of the value of his arguments against Dreyfus.

Counsel then asked why Cuignet had employed the expression "report" to describe the Schneider letter, and the witness replied that he was justified in doing so owing to the similarity of the expressions in it with the terms actually employed in reports.

Replying further, witness said the government also referred to the command in favor of Dreyfus and to order to resign to Brussels, the headquarters of the espionage system.

M. Demange—The paper handed in by Gen. Mercier is therefore only an extract?

The witness next gave his idea as to how Dreyfus might have secured plans of the fortresses. But counsel pointed to Patty de Clam's report at the time of the arrest of Dreyfus, in which he declared that no document had disappeared or could have disappeared from the ministry of war.

When Dreyfus was asked if he wished to reply to this witness, he declared he never asked Maj. Cuignet for documents except by the desire of his chief, Maj. Berthel. All the details which Maj. Cuignet has given on this subject, said the prisoner, "spring out of his own imagination and are due to the state of mind which prompts unreasoning bitterness, even against an innocent man."

PATY DE CLAM CALLED. Gen. de Boisdeffre Also Considers Dreyfus Guilty.

Paris, Aug. 19.—Amid a buzz of excitement, the name of Maj. Du Paty de Clam was called out, whereupon Maj. Cuignet said that he had been officially informed that his presence was necessary to the court-martial and now supposed he would be able to come soon as possible, but the government commissary had given no definite word. At the request of M. Demange, it was decided to notify Paty de Clam that the court-martial was ready to hear his deposition.

The Conviction Is Deepening That Dreyfus Will Again Be Condemned.

The Latest Franchise Kite From Pretoria Looked Upon as Subterfuge.

From The Herald London Bureau.

London, Aug. 19.—(Copyright, 1899, by the Associated Press.)—Revelations of further forgeries, disclosures by foreign diplomats, and even Col. Picquart's evidence seem to fail to remove the deepening conviction in the minds of spectators at the court-martial being held at Rennes that Capt. Dreyfus has no chance of acquittal. It is alleged that the members of the court-martial have refused even to take the trouble to read copies of the court of cassation evidence, on the ground that they are fully competent to conduct an independent inquiry, and that this would be the ignorance displayed at the trial and the tedious character of the proceedings.

A strong agitation is beginning to be manifested in Paris for the convention held at the chamber of deputies. Should a majority of the members support the demand, the government will be compelled to order a new trial. The latest franchise kite from Pretoria has failed of its expected effect. It is still regarded as a device to gain time. There is no cessation of the war preparations on either side.

longer than he has, he will withdraw from the congressional race and give his support to the person entitled to such seniority of service. Then Bede says:

"We were raised in the Garfield school of Republicanism and have never consciously departed from it. Have always stood for the gold standard and the world-wide trade. Have believed in the trade, love of Dixie, the grand heart of England, and have always urged a united North and South. Have always favored a tariff that covers cost of production, which would naturally be higher for new industries. And have been the basis of free government. And now that length of service has been called in question, may we not ask how long our brethren of the press have advocated the gold standard, Oriental trade, love of Dixie, the grand heart of England, and other issues that are now crowding to the fore? And what duty have they done had the party declared for free silver in 1896? We want to get down to the real meat in the coconut to it and find out what is a paying matter, and we are ready to discuss the matter, with or without jokes, and abide by the verdict of the state committee. Let it be called very soon and let us love one another."

This reference to their position on the money question hits not only the present congressmen, but some of his closest political friends in Duluth in a very tender spot. The membership roll of the Duluth Gold and Silver club is still in existence. Perhaps Judah has a copy.

Under the heading "Seventeen Years Ago," the Grand Forks Herald prints the following: "The Grand Forks and Duluth canal was the subject of a big meeting in the latter city at which a large delegation from this city was present to take part in the deliberations. The subject was to interest the Northwest in the work and then induce congress to take it up and build it. The canal was to be a paying affair after the large engineering problem was solved. Among the speakers at the meeting were Judge Starnes, Gen. Baile, of St. Paul, Judge Cox, Railroad Commissioner Tucker, Hon. Kente Nelson, of Duluth, and Judge George H. Stunt, Judge Jones and Dr. Collins."

"Don't lynch me because it is wrong and lawless," exclaimed Senator Tillman, "but hang the Democrats!" Tillman's point of view, says the Kansas City Star, is a good one. The Democrats have explained to an Englishman that all Southerners do not approve of lynch law, but, on the contrary, many are opposed to it. "To my country," said the Englishman, "a number of our best people go together and decide that the lynching business had to stop, and you may be sure that they did stop it. 'If you do it,' said the Englishman, 'why, sir, replied the editor, 'the next time they lynch a nigger, sir, our prominent citizens will march forth, sir, and catch the ringleaders, sir, and strangle them up.'"

The Tacoma Ledger says it seems like an excess of courtesy to allow Col. Lee, military attaché to the British embassy, to wear the mouth of a cannon. Yet such permission has been given. Col. Lee has made the most of it. Inspects all the fortifications of the country. He was the mouth of a cannon for a few days ago and went thence to San Francisco to inspect our works there. In view of this freedom, the prohibition of the mouth of a cannon seems hard to understand.

A London paper seriously announces that an ingenious Pennsylvanian has made a model and effective way of killing snakes. Having discovered that reptiles like the sweet and soothing taste of nitro-glycerine, he placed large quantities of it in their native haunts and afterward gave them honey and candy made of red pepper. The pepper caused the snakes to lie the ground with force and they exploded the nitro-glycerine, which blew themselves to atoms.

When a crowd of citizens of Beechburg, Ky., engaged at the building of a Mormon church in the town, were about to set fire to it, they learned that the edifice had been insured in view of this very contingency. They accordingly changed the church to places, taking care that no piece of timber should be used again. The Americans will probably lose their insurance. And no doubt these good citizens of Beechburg consider themselves Christians!

A Chicago man, in a frantic effort to commit suicide, drank a quart of whisky, pulled himself forth, sir, and crawled three times with a rusty sword and set fire to the house, locking himself in a closet. At the hospital they say he will recover. The Kansas City News says he should have tried an operation for appendicitis.

An exchange says that those who take either letters or newspapers from the postoffice either from carelessness or otherwise should remember to return the same as there is a new law which renders a person liable to $50 fine or a year's imprisonment for failing to return mail. The Chicago Tribune intimates that Queen Victoria may have cause of action against the United States in connection with the change of allegiance of William Walker, as she may conclude that we have shovled a bad Bill on her.

It is suggested that the Peria, Ill., wheel enthusiast who erected a monument in his cemetery lot with a bicycle, upon the shaft should have added the comforting inscription: "He will never be missed."

English Editor Makes Insultations Against Joseph Chamberlain.

MARRIED A KAFFIR

Sensation Caused By Attention Showered Upon Kaffirs By English Society.

London, Aug. 10.—(Copyright 1889 by the Associated Press.)—The court of high high, speaking at a Tribune meeting during the week, voiced the general feeling of government supporters by saying: "If the break-up of the British empire is wanted all we have to do is to show a weak front in South Africa. Great Britain has to win the next crack there, whether by diplomacy or other means."

William T. Stead, in the Review of Reviews, makes a startling insinuation against Joseph Chamberlain, the secretary of state for the colonies. He says that if the Liberal leaders, Sir William Harcourt and Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, two years ago had not "made themselves parties to a most scandalous fraud, in the way of whitewashing, even the most honest public, Mr. Chamberlain would not be in the cabinet of the present day."

Mr. Stead refers apparently to the Jameson raid into the Transvaal and intimates that Chamberlain was at least responsible for the present messiness, adding that in now days, when, as he avowed, is the destruction of the dominion of the British empire.

Continuing, Mr. Stead accuses Sir Alfred Milner, the British high commissioner in South Africa, and says if he were away from the Transvaal there would be no chance of war in South Africa. A matter of another kind has raised a storm of indignation in the British empire, and that is the case of a Kaffir, a native of the Transvaal, who has been charged with the murder of a white man.

The case of the Kaffir, who has been charged with the murder of a white man, has been a matter of great interest to the British public. The Kaffir, who has been charged with the murder of a white man, has been a matter of great interest to the British public.

FINE DECORATIONS

Complete Transformation Has

Display of Flowers.

The fifth annual show of the Daughters of the Flower Show association, which opened at the Armory last evening, is all that has been promised and more. The Armory is a bewildering scene of beauty, and a triumph of all that is artistic and tasteful in the art of decoration. There has never been a year when the decorations were so elaborate, and the rough and bare walls of the building have been completely transformed. It was difficult to recognize it last evening as the same building. There is only one

Several other strikingly beautiful and elegant designs of various sorts are arranged in the garden, and the character of the decorations are brilliant. The most interesting reflects great credit on W.W. Lockie, who decorated it. It represents a scene in the life of a colonial country, the sleeping grounds of a family of natives. The natives are placed in the grounds, and in a little fountain water bubbles up. The water is white, and is carefully down the sleeping grounds, and is used for the purpose of watering the garden. A number of little rabbits and their mother are playing in the garden. The scene is very lifelike. All around the room are arranged the designs of the garden, and are of a lifelike character. This has not been a common scene before, and hence the designs exhibit all the more the credit of the gardeners of Bulah. The designs are of a low order, and are probably the greatest in number and variety of any of the designs, and arrangements are to be found. Nesturiums also, seem to be the most common, and the design is greatly in evidence. Some of the designs are of a high order, and some, and almost every variety of

Charged With Breaking Lamps.

Charles Laybourn, a lad of 15 years, reported by the Duluth Herald as a "juvenile delinquent," was arraigned before Judge Genschert yesterday afternoon on a charge of breaking street lamps. The boy, who lives at 14 Phoenix street, has a plea of not guilty. He was held in the city jail and the trial was set for August 10. Mr. Laybourn was released on $1000 bond.

There has been a general renewal of the onslaught on the city's street lamps recently after a period of quiet that had allowed the lamp company to breathe easy for some time. The boys are breaking them to pieces, and the company has not been able to keep up with the fast growing number of them all going.

A number of people called out that Hansen was in the crowd, and Hansen was called on to state why he had ordered the shooting. He said that he had done so and there was a chorus of derisive cries from the crowd. A number of people then started shouting abuse, and by this time there was a nearly 100-man assembled. Hansen then said that he was sorry that it became evident that the officers were not going to cross the matter. He then said that he was sorry that Mr. Dvorschak had been arrested and the assembly dispersed.

After the meeting had dispersed a number of people called on Hansen to answer the question of whether he was a police headquarter to see the chief of the matter, but he was not there. Hansen then said that he was sorry that it was not a crowd this evening.

Obnoxious Ruling.
 The local customs house officials are greatly pleased with the new order of the secretary of the treasury exempting vessels from Canadian ports to this and other United States lake ports from the ruling of section 2 of the act which will exclude from a foreign port any vessel that obtains a bill of lading. It will also exclude the vesselmen.
 There are many cases of cases now pending, including fines of the Ed Kelly of the Kalkaska and Fryer, all lumbering boats, which will be exempted from the bill without bills of lading signed by the United States consul. It is possible that all these cases will be dismissed.

The New York Herald of this morning has an intimation that Salvini and his "several managers" are negotiating with the American government for the country during the coming season, for the purpose of securing a profitable proposition during his absence. This marked decrease in the number of companies is not due merely to the lack of appreciation on the part of the public—it is the same in all circumstances that applies to other branches of business, contraction and magnitude.

There is one trust in the tented show—that is, three of the largest shows this character have combined their interests. As yet no movement of this kind has been made by the minstrel managers.

But her ability and respect as an actress is more notable than her mother's in the industry; she is never idle. Her father was privileged to see some of sketches received from San Diego daily of some of the scenes in the play, "Marie Antoinette," which she painted by herself, and they were no means rough daubs, but really quite good. She showed that the Polish actress could carry on reputation with her brush if she chose. The degree of the new play will be claimed, in a degree, and as Modjeska is actually the daughter of the artist, it is self it should be faithful to history very detail.

RAN INTO AN ENGINE

Misplaced Switch Caused a Bad Accident on an Ohio Railroad.

MANY ARE INJURED

Five Persons Seriously Hurt and Twenty Badly Cut and Bruised.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Aug. 22.—An excursion train on the Cincinnati & Muskingum Valley railroad was wrecked at the edge of the city and five persons were seriously injured and twenty others badly cut and bruised.

The injured: Engineer William Dittus, internally; William McElhin, baggage master; Mrs. Looie Reichelderfer, Cincinnati; Miss Kate Dodge, Indianapolis; Rev. C. H. Eckhart, Lima, Ohio.

The train was running at high rate of speed in the outskirts of the city when a misplaced switch turned it into a siding on which stood a locomotive. Both engines were badly splintered. The train had three coaches loaded of passengers going to a family reunion at Leipsville, Ohio.

The dramatic cantata of "Joseph and His Brothers" will be performed at the benefit of Ashbury M. E. church, Admission—Adults, 10 cents; children, 5 cents.

W. B. Hartley is on the sick list. Mr. Boyd and a companion, line men for the North American Telegraph company, had a narrow escape with no injuries from a runaway on a railway yesterday morning. They were going along at a good speed and did not notice a train coming behind until it was almost on top of them. Boyd broke both hands of the volunteer in trying to stop it, and then jumped and pulled the machine and his companion off the track just as the train whizzed by.

quarters in Berlin, and that on the news of the arrest of Dreyfus, Gen. Count Von Waldersee summoned all the German military attaches in Europe to Berlin and the chief of the mission declared that no one of them had ever had relations with Dreyfus. Cues added that he himself never heard of Dreyfus.

Lajoux then complained of his abandonment by the headquarters staff and of the measures taken against him by officers of the ministry of war. He spoke of the promises of Col. Sander and Henry, who gave him credit for most of the success of their work in the intelligence department.

After the reading of this letter, M. Labori inquired: "Can Gen. Col. Rollin explain to me the reasons for the arrest of a man who was a prisoner of war and a bad egg, is now receiving a pension of 200 francs monthly?"

The witness replied: "It is no doubt in recognition of his previous services." (Laughter.)

M. Labori asked if the report of Nov. 20, 1897, which was attributed to a former minister of war (Gen. Mercier), was correct.

The government commissary, Maj. Carrière, protested against this question, saying it referred to affairs of state and should not be answered except behind closed doors.

M. Labori pointed out that he had not named anyone, and that he had only asked if the statement was correct. He said that he had a permit for the ministry of war and went there at least a hundred times. On another occasion I was accompanied by a friend, who entered with no other formality than upon the gate and saw the prisoner. (Laughter.)

Gen. Goussard read another letter of similar purport and Dreyfus said: "There are only five of us who know this terrible secret. One of them is the first traitor in France." (Laughter.)

Counsel asked if the secret was not that Dreyfus was a traitor. "Oh, no," M. Labori replied. "Oh, no, no."

M. Demange, according to the terms of the contract, said: "No, no, no. I will tell you why. I have never seen Dreyfus since he was arrested. There are only five of us who know this terrible secret. One of them is the first traitor in France." (Laughter.)

SHOWING UP WELL

The Decca Mine Is Being Vigorously Developed With Splendid Results.

MADE A LARGE DEAL

Another Property Optioned By Randolph and Berger to Duluth Men.

Mine Center, Ont., Aug. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Decca mine, which adjoins the Lucky Com on the west, is showing up splendidly under vigorous development. On vein No. 1 the main shaft is now down 150 feet, and drifting and crosscutting will at once be commenced at that depth.

Some weeks ago an air compressor plant and steam hoist were installed, and since then sinking has progressed at the rate of eight and ten feet a week. The compressor building is a substantial structure, and architecturally, looks more like a manufacturing plant than any building in the district. On one side is the boiler, hoist and compressor, with capacity for power for eight shafts, when needed later on. On the other side is a commodious machine and workshop.

About two weeks ago, at a depth of 150 feet, a rich strike was made on this vein. At that point it had a width of four and a half feet, showed much visible gold and was splendidly mineralized with galena and iron and copper pyrites. C. J. Fiske, the superintendent, is doing good work, and the present strike is every promise that this property will make a billion produced of marked merit. The conservative estimate of the mill will be taken in and installed so as to begin stamping next spring.

Adjoining the Decca, on the south and west, considerable work has been done on the Manhattan. A steam hoist and drills have been installed, and the main shaft sunk on a wide vein to the depth of eighty-five feet. Mr. Peterson, the chief owner and manager, claims high value for the ore. He recently shut down work temporarily and went East for the purpose, it is said, to organize a stock company, and to secure a more complete development plan.

At the Arla mine, 7167, owned by Franklin Palmer of Duluth and A. C. Clausen, of St. Paul, Frank D. Fowler, of Duluth, is pushing development work with night and day crews. The shaft is now down between thirty and forty feet, and the ore is improving in character and quality. Mr. Fowler assures me that recent assays gave a value of $6 a ton. The shaft will be sunk to a depth of seventy-five feet, and crosscutting and drifting prosecuted at that point. Mr. Fowler is doing the work by day's wages, with excellent results. It is costing him per foot about one half as much as such work usually costs in this district.

The Randolphs and Nol Berger have on another large deal. This time they have optioned A1135 to a Duluth syndicate for a price currently reported as $20,000 and 250,000 shares of stock.

The vein on this property has been stripped for several hundred feet, and on the surface makes a remarkable showing. In places it has a width of nine or ten feet in solid quartz. When stripping commenced to show up such a huge ore body, Nol Berger, the distributor of the syndicate, was almost paralyzed with astonishment. Test pica are now being sunk, with excellent results. I am assured, and the deal is thought to be a sure thing, "the ore is splendidly mineralized, and is said to carry good values."

James Billings, of Duluth, is organizing a company to take over a big mining proposition. Some of the best known men in this district are associated with him in the deal, and I am told that he the prisoner sought to acquire from Capt. Culbert.

Replying to questions on the subject of the alleged untimely visit of Dreyfus to his office, witnesses said that they were kept in his office, and that Dreyfus knew the word necessary to open the iron curtains.

M. Scheurer-Kestner, it also appeared, often told the witness he was unable to furnish the facts, and finally Dreyfus was advised to have a talk with the minister of war.

At this juncture the clerk of the court read a letter from M. Scheurer-Kestner to Dreyfus, in which he expressed his regret that he was unable to attend the session of the court. The letter referred to the steps of Mathieu Dreyfus to secure the rehabilitation of his brother and described the writer's investigations and how it was only when Esterhazy's handwriting was shown him that his hesitation ended. The letter also mentioned the moments which the writer experienced during the course of the campaign and dwelt on the opinion expressed in the judgment of the court of cassation and the confessions of Esterhazy that he was the writer of the letter.

In conclusion the letter said: "You will permit an old Alsatian, my friend, to express the sentiment that the bill of the justice will soon strike, in the interest of himself for justice and of the country." (Great sensation.)

Replying to M. Demange, Lieut. Col. Berthel further explained his connection with M. Scheurer-Kestner. At the maneuvers that year witness told Gen. Billot of the action M. Scheurer-Kestner was taking and the general replied: "Tell him not to do anything. I shall appeal to my old friend."

"I telegraphed to M. Scheurer-Kestner," Lieut. Col. Berthel continued, "that I could not attend Esterhazy, the Germans having brutally forbidden me to do so." (Laughter.)

AUTUMN STYLES Are Here GALORE!

Hundreds of handsome new fabrics are here for your careful scrutiny. Hundreds are on the list to arrive daily—styles that appeal to the judgment of good dress—prices that even close-fisted folks would not grumble at.

GOLF SUITINGS---

Beautiful shades of Blue Grey, several shades of Brown, Caston, Oxford Grey, and Cadet, with quiet or brilliant color effects, in large plaids or small checks. The styles shown by us are extremely choice and will not be seen at any other store in this part of the Northwest, and not expensive either. For instance, we show an extremely heavy and good one for $1.50 the yard that could readily bring $2.00. At $2.00 and $2.25 we show quality than cannot be equalled by any other store hereabouts, while the styles are not such that can easily be duplicated by houses that make a specialty of "cheap" goods.

SKIRTING PLAIDS

In beautiful and harmonious color combinations. Not such as you will find in cheap, trashy imitations that are being shown and for which other stores are asking more than you pay here for the genuine article. The styles shown here appeal to the taste of good dressers and to those who know good values. Start at $4.00 the yard and then $3.00, $2.00, $1.75, $1.25 and $1.00. Each line represents the strongest values. Or if you desire to pay less, we are prepared with lines at 75c and 50c that are extremely stylish and very tasty and yet do not conflict at all with the higher-priced numbers.

We Call Special Attention

To our exclusive showing of Skirt Lengths and desire to say that we have no duplicates of any of the styles shown, and our patrons can feel assured of getting entirely exclusive numbers if they so desire it.

Homespun and Zibolines---

Will be extremely stylish this Autumn.

Eastern fashion dictates say so and the eagerness with which they are being bought in the East bears them out. We are fully prepared to meet your every want with styles and values that you will not duplicate elsewhere. Extra good quality Homespun, full 38 inches wide of strictly pure Wool Fabrics in the approved autumn shades of Blue, Brown and Grey $1.00 the yard. Zibolines, $1.25 and $2.00 the yard.

SILKS.

A lady said yesterday: "Your silks are simply too lovely for anything. I have been in every store in this city, and I must confess that there is no comparison between what you show and the other stores—either in price, style or quality. Of course I wanted to satisfy myself, and you know some stores, no matter how trashy their goods are, keep yelling 'best,' until one is almost made to feel as if the bottom had fallen out of prices, but I have come to the conclusion that style and quality always commands a fair price, and I am satisfied, too, that your silks are first class—yes, four yards, please, and have it sent out by this afternoon's delivery."

This incident actually happened at our store, and what's better, this is but one of many such experiences. We do not exaggerate when we say that no establishment in the Northwest offers a better or more stylish assortment of SILKS than does this house, and every yard of it leaves this store with our guarantee of its style and good wearing qualities, whether it be silk at 50c or $2.00, the same satisfactory result is there. We are particularly strong on Silks at $1.25 the yard in handsome stripes and corded effects. Soft Taffetas, Satin de Chine, Silk Moreens, Satin striped, dull black grounds, stripes of Red, Pearl Grey, Bright Blue, Green and Cadet, 25 inches wide. 75c and even 50c is being asked for them at other stores in this city; they are ready for you here at 50c the yard.

Secretary Jackson Says Duluth Is Favored in Having the Conference.

IS AN UNUSUAL STEP

Nearly Always Held in Cities Where There Are State Institutions.

James F. Jackson, secretary of the state board of charities and corrections, came up from St. Paul this morning and spent the day looking over the field and the outlook for the state conference of charities and corrections, which will begin here on the evening of Sept. 4, and will continue during the two succeeding days. Before coming here, Mr. Jackson visited the members of the local committee, and he found them alive to the situation and appreciative of the value of the conference. He said that the head of the lakes who are interested in the topic that will be covered.

When seen by The Herald this morning, Mr. Jackson was very enthusiastic over the prospects for the coming conference, and he said that he had found everything working well toward its success. He spent the morning with William C. Sargent, visiting the members of the local committee, and he found them alive to the situation and appreciative of the value of the conference. He said that the head of the lakes who are interested in the topic that will be covered.

It is an unusual opportunity," said Mr. Jackson, and one that is seldom accorded a city that does not contain an institution of some sort, along the lines of the local work. The conference is almost invariably held in a city where such an institution is located, so that the members may visit it during their stay. So it may be said that it is an exceptional courtesy to Duluth to have the conference located here this year. The purpose of the conference is to present the latest thinking to the conduct of the various public and private charity and correction institutions. Of course no one conference can cover the field, for it is an immense one, but a year conference is taken up and treated by people thoroughly informed. There will be no flippers on the program. Every paper presented is a paper will be asked to do so because it is believed that he or she is best qualified to treat on the subject. The papers who have places on the program are thoroughly representative.

These conferences have been supported by people of every creed and nationality, and by some who have no stated creed at all, as well as by the officers of state, county and municipal governments. The papers will be presented by specialists almost without exception. This year a new feature will be the discussion. There will be leaders of discussion on each topic treated, and the public will be invited and expected to participate in these discussions. It will be an exceptional opportunity to learn about these things from people who are specialists in these lines, and questions will be welcomed.

The discussion this year has a tendency not only to bring out all there is in a subject but to impress upon the hearers more thoroughly what the speakers are saying. The out of the state people who will attend will be Dr. W. H. Hart, of Illinois, both of whom are recognized authorities on the topics they will treat. The state boards of Iowa and Wisconsin have been invited to send representatives. This will be an excellent opportunity for all those who are interested in modern scientific charities and kindred subjects, and it is expected that superior will take advantage of it, as well as Duluth.

The outlook for the conference is splendid. I may say safely that there has never been a better program than the one offered here, and that no conference has had a stronger or more representative list of speakers. To help them out of their various difficulties, not by pulling them out bodily but by enabling them to develop themselves so that they can get out themselves, it has been said that one can confer no permanent benefit on an individual by helping him out of his troubles by the nose of his neck. Such is modern scientific charity and correction.

A KITCHEN COMFORT.

A Money-Saver and Something Every Housewife Needs.

There has been much published pro and con the past few weeks regarding the Champion Oil Burner as a fuel saver, and much enthusiasm among housewives, now that hot weather is on, has become manifest. This particular burner has, through reputable exchanges, and those who have tried it, gained a reputation that must of necessity be enviable.

As a fuel producer it has attained the height of perfection and the work it accomplishes is certainly surprising. The oil is carried through a small rolled pipe to the burner, which is first heated and then as fast as the oil flows it is converted into gas which mixes with 50 per cent of air, and the gas, passing through the burner and producing a long blue flame of intense heat, free from smoke, odor, dust and objectionable gases, arising from the use of hard coal; the combustion being perfect, there is no waste of fuel.

Compared with wood, coal or common illuminating gas or even gasoline, it is far less expensive and gives much greater heat. They are a revelation, and as such thousands are being introduced, and agents are eagerly securing territory in this section of the state.

Investigate the merits of the Champion Oil Burner before concluding to purchase, or making a change in what you already possess.—Grand Rapids Telegram.

Why is Electric Light Best?

Because it is Healthy, Clean Pure and Brilliant.

HEALTHY! It has no odor. Professor Thomson states one cubic foot of gas contains as much oxygen as four adults.
CLEAN! It causes no discolorations of furnishings and decorations in home.
SAFE! As electric light works no danger of suffocation.
CHEAP! It costs little in turning off lights when not in use it is cheaper than any other illuminant.

GENERALS GO OVER.

The Jimenez Revolution in Santo Domingo Gains Ground.

Cape Haytien, Aug. 22.—Gen. Victoriano Torres, commander of San Jose de las Matas, Santo Domingo, has declared for the revolution, and it is reported that Santiago has also pronounced in favor of the revolution. The British first class cruiser Prosperine, Capt. John L. Matthews, en route to the North American West Indies fleet, has arrived at Santo Domingo.

GUERINITS STILL HOLD OUT.

Erect Fresh Barricade and Soak It With Oil.

Paris, Aug. 22.—The Guerinists are still holding out at the headquarters of the anti-Semitic league, which has been besieged since Aug. 12 by the authorities as a result of the recent disturbances here. All is quiet, but they have erected a fresh barricade of chairs and tables, and have soaked them with petroleum, from which it is believed the besieged contemplate immolation. The firemen remain constantly on duty outside the building.

A WARM WELCOME.

Spanish Guerilla Returns Home and Is Roughly Handled.

Havana, Aug. 22.—An attempt has been made at Matanzas to lynch a million named Genera, who was formerly a servant of a Spanish guerilla chief. Genera, after the war, went to the Canary islands and returned to Cuba recently in quest of his family. When his identity was discovered a crowd assembled and there were cries of "burn him." The man took refuge in a cafe, but was beaten severely and stabbed. He was rescued by the police, who took him to a hospital. No arrests were made.

THINK END HAS COME.

Russians Stop Work to Prepare for Judgment Day.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 22.—Reports from Southern Russia say that the belief of the approaching end of the world is causing a panic among the uneducated classes. At Kharkov, the capital of the government of that name, workmen are leaving in large numbers, wishing to spend what they consider their last days at their village homes. The factory owners have asked the police to prevent this emigration in order to prevent the ruin of business.

A RATHER DULL DAY

Although There Was Some Spirit In the Case.

F. ZY WRITES

Loget Has Received Bulk Documents From the Major.

Bonnay, Aug. 22.—Maitre Labord, leading counsel for the defense, and Mme. Labord were present in court when the trial of Capt. Dreyfus was resumed at 10:30 this morning.

As M. Labord was entering the court he was informed by a newspaper man that Gen. Loget yesterday received documents from Maj. Du Chastel.

The fourth witness called by the defense was M. Du Chastel, who was called by the defense. Outside of this there was no incident worth noting at the opening of the proceedings. The session began with the testimony of minor witnesses, including Capt. Dreyfus, and Gen. Loget. The latter deposed that Dreyfus, while on the general staff, could have had access to the documents during certain hours of the day. The prisoner, replying, admitted that he was present during those hours, but explained that his presence was connected with his duties.

The fourth witness, M. Du Chastel, described himself as a private gentleman. He told his acquaintances that he could not frequent his house if the German and his wife were there. He said that he was visiting his acquaintances, or rather his acquaintances' wife, and that he was with his neighbors who is disinterested from the army. M. Labord took Du Chastel in hand and deposed that he only knew the visitor was a German because he was told so, and he did not know whether he was a military or civil attaché. He did not know his name. In fact the whole story was of the kind of a German attaché would have had nothing to gain by cultivating the prisoner.

Dreyfus, when he was ready to testify, denying that he had any relations with a German attaché, military or civil.

M. Labord finished with M. Du Chastel by asking for the justification of his name in the law courts, which counsel hinted was discredited.

The prisoner was very indignant during M. Du Chastel's deposition, and once he had finished, he said to the court, "I am not a German attaché, military or civil."

The statement of the prisoner caused a deep impression. M. Labord, after questioning the character of M. Du Chastel, asked him to state his name, but he refused to do so. M. Labord said that he had made every inquiry on the subject from the police of the city, but he had not been able to find out who he was.

M. Labord—Everything is strange in this case, and the evidence of this witness is by no means the least strange. He told us that he was a German attaché, but he refused to state his name. He told us that he was a private gentleman, but he refused to state his name. He told us that he was a German attaché, but he refused to state his name.

The next witness, Capt. Valentin, testified to seeing Maj. Du Chastel at the beginning of 1896, and Capt. Lebel, of the artillery, who followed him to the front, and who was with him at the time of the capture of the prisoner.

Estherazy was called as the next witness, and he testified to seeing Maj. Du Chastel at the beginning of 1896, and Capt. Lebel, of the artillery, who followed him to the front, and who was with him at the time of the capture of the prisoner.

Gen. Loget was asked to be allowed to respond to Estherazy's testimony, and he said that he was not a German attaché, but a private gentleman.

Rennes, Aug. 22.—Maj. Lerond, professor at the military school, deposed that he had seen Estherazy and Picquart, telling how Estherazy was disconcerted at several of M. Labord's questions. The witness voice grew so faint that it was scarcely audible.

Maj. Lerond, who deposed yesterday, was recalled after that. Geniz and supported the latter's statements.

Gen. Loget then jumped to his feet and denied in the most forcible manner Estherazy's statements, adding that had he been present he would have "given the lie with all the consequences."

The court adjourned for the day at 11:40 a. m.

ADMIRAL A BABEL AGREES IN COURT

Dewey Will Arrive at New York on the 28th as Requested.

HE RETURNS A VISIT

Admiral Makes a Splendid Impression Upon People of Nice.

New York, Aug. 24.—Acting Mayor Guggenheimer today received the following telegram from Admiral Dewey: Villeneuve, Aug. 24.—Randolph Guggenheimer, Acting Mayor: Will arrive Thursday, 28th, as requested.

This will enable the reception committee to hold the naval parade on Friday and the land parade on Saturday, and obviate the necessity of having a day intervene between the two parades.

Nice, France, Aug. 24.—Admiral Dewey, accompanied by Miss Lett, Primby and the United States vice consul here, this morning returned the visit made yesterday by M. Grana, president of the Alps-Maritimes, who showed the visitors through the rooms of the prefecture, the former palace of the kings of Piedmont. The party then called on Gen. O'Farrell, the acting military governor, whom Admiral Dewey thanked for the permission he had received to land and drill his men at Villeneuve during the remainder of the cruise Olympia's stay at that place.

The Americans also called on Naval Commissioner Duval, whom Admiral Dewey thanked for the port facilities which had been granted to his vessel. The admiral asked M. Duval to transmit thanks to the maritime prefect at Toulon for sending cruisers to salute the Olympia on her arrival.

The inhabitants of Nice gave Admiral Dewey an ovation as he passed through the streets. He returned to Villeneuve at noon.

Admiral Dewey expresses regret in regard to the incorrect reports concerning his reception at Trieste. He says it was most courteous and hearty, the minister of marine coming especially from Vienna to greet him.

Not only myself, added the admiral, but everyone on board the Olympia received every possible attention.

Admiral Dewey created a marked impression here, all those who saw him being struck with his extreme amiability and modesty.

LYNCH HIM.

Cry of a Cleveland Mob Enraged by a Motorman's Blunder.

Cleveland, Aug. 24.—A big Consolidated motorman and conductor were threatened with violence by a mob on Broadway this morning. But for the timely arrival of the police the motorman would doubtless have been roughly handled and probably lynched. Cries of "lynch him," "lynch him," "lynch the scab," were heard on the crowd repeatedly, and he was charged with the crowd to get out of the street.

The Broadway car was almost down the street when the mob, who had struck a spring wagon, throwing the four occupants to the pavement. They were John Fother, cut severely about the head and one ear partially torn off; his wife and 8-year-old daughter, both badly cut about face and shoulders; and Joe Krazinskie, a neighbor, bruised.

The police came on a riot call and had difficulty in protecting the street. The crowd was finally dispersed after the patrolmen had used their clubs.

QUAY ENDORSED.

Plank in Republican Platform Approves of His Appointment.

Haverhill, Aug. 24.—The plank in the platform of the Republican convention endorsing the appointment of Senator Quay by Governor Stone was opposed in a speech by State Senator Flinn, but the plank as submitted was adopted by the convention, 392 yeas to 48 noes.

Brave Men Fall

Victims to stomach, liver and kidney troubles as well as all the results in loss of appetite, poisons in the blood, backache, nervousness, headache and tired, listless, run-down feeling. But there is no need to feel like that. Listen to J. W. Gardner, Illinois, who writes: "Electric Bitters are just the thing for a man when he is all run down and can't care whether he lives or dies. It did more to give me new strength and good appetite than anything I could take. I can now eat anything and have a new lease of life." Only 25 cents, at W. A. Abbott's drug store. Every bottle guaranteed.

of having spent 35,000,000 francs? What was this sum used for? The amount is simply inconceivable. Gen. Mercier—I might just as well ask you. (Sensation.)

M. Labori—Do you mean to suggest that it was spent in advertisements and in buying consciences?

Gen. Mercier—I say nothing whatever. Counsel next wished to know why the bordereau was communicated to the court-martial of 1884, when it was considered impossible to show the other documents of the secret delinquent.

M. Labori—Because the bordereau was not dated nor signed, and its place of origin could be concealed.

M. Labori pointed out that the place of origin had been mentioned in Court, and then asked for explanations in regard to the perpetration of the 1884 forgery.

The cross-examination of Gen. Mercier became more and more heated and so rapid that it was difficult to follow and many of the answers were confusing.

As the questions of counsel touched upon the secret dossier, and a certain document in blue pencil, Gen. Mercier, Gen. Roget, M. Gribelin and Maj. Labori also participated in the discussion.

The government commissary, Maj. Carriere, protested against such questions, and the president, Col. Picquart, declared that he would not allow silence. The commissary said an attempt was being made to show there was a fresh forgery, which was not for purposes of comparison, to which M. Labori said that he had no objection.

M. Labori said that he had no objection to the questions, but that the questions were only to demonstrate the time when the document was forged.

Maj. Laith said he believed a clue to the time when the document was forged, in that case, it was not produced at the trial, since it incriminated the prisoner.

Gen. Mercier said he did not know of this document, but he was not responsible in the matter as he was not connected with the preliminary inquiry.

Gen. Gonz said the document had been in the possession of Col. Sandherr in the secret dossier for comparison with other documents.

M. Labori asked for explanations in regard to the commentary on the secret dossier, and the president, Col. Picquart, declared that he would not allow silence.

Why is Electric Light Best? Because it is Healthy, Clean Pure and Brilliant.
HEALTHY! It has no odor. Professor Thomson states one cubic foot of gas consumes as much oxygen as four adults.
CLEAN! It causes no discolorations of furnishings and decorations in homes.
SAFE! An electric bell work, no danger of suffocation.
CHEAP! By using a little care in turning off lights when not in use it is cheaper than any other illuminant.

WIN ANOTHER BATTLE.
Government Troops Meet Heavy Losses in Santo Domingo.
Cane Haytien, Aug. 25.—Seven fighting took place yesterday and Wednesday in the neighborhood of Monte Christo, Santo Domingo, between the government forces and the revolutionists. The revolutionists are reported to be continually receiving reinforcements.

An Alleged Letter From Labori to Lorimer Found.
Paris, Aug. 25.—A dispatch from Lyons says a bag has been found in the river Rhine there, containing a paper with this pretended inscription: "Labori to Lorimer, Basle—Nothing will be done. Dreyfus is innocent. Voluntary suicide. Orders executed." The bag was handed over to the police.

A CLEVER FORGER

All That Bertillon Proved By His Testimony, According to Labori.

A LAUGHABLE SCENE

Even the Judges Could Not Repress Smiles at Bertillon's Antics.

Remes, Aug. 25.—The opening of the trial of Capt. Dreyfus occurred at 6:25 a. m. today without any extraordinary incident. The clerk of the court read a medical certificate, signed by two doctors whose names were unknown to the audience, declaring it was impossible for Col. Du Paty De Clam to leave his bed to come to Remes and testify.

Maitre Labori, leading counsel for the defense, asked the president of the court, Col. Jouhaux, to instruct two well known medical men to examine Du Paty De Clam, but Col. Jouhaux refused.

Lowland Strong, an English newspaper man, who then called to the witness stand, and deposed to the fact that Maj. Count Esterhazy confessed to him that he wrote the famous letter which claimed the honor of being the first man in France to have declared in favor of Dreyfus.

The witness opened his deposition with a brief, personal statement of the facts, being characterized as a "doubtful expert" by the military judge.

"But," he added, in tones of profound pity and turning towards Dreyfus, "I have no hesitation in saying, and am silent when I see before me the unfortunate man who sits there."

A murmur of approval from the audience greeted these words of sympathy. M. Labori then repeated the evidence he gave before the court of cassation.

He gave his testimony in a clear, convincing manner, and his deposition, plastic in attributing the bodacious Esterhazy.

Answering questions of the judges, M. Labori declared his conviction that the letter was written by Esterhazy, and that he had no hesitation in saying that he was not a forger or trickster.

M. Labori then confronted with M. Gobert, and put a number of questions, one or two of which the witness stumbled, to the infinite satisfaction of the military witnesses, who smiled and exchanged approving glances. M. Bertillon, the noted anthropometrist, was called as the next witness. He wore a dark blue coat and a high hat in his hand. M. Labori requested permission to bring in his diagrams and papers. The request was granted, and M. Bertillon retired for a moment, returning at the head of a squad composed of an infantry sergeant and four privates, all carrying satchels, bulging with documents, charts, etc., which they deposited on the stage as a part of their evidence. He referred to his thirty years of service, during which he had reported on the character of many men, and stated that he was called in to examine the prisoner. "After all, I have no right to complain when I look at this unfortunate man before you," (Great sensation.)

He then asked the president of the court, Col. Jouhaux, to instruct two well known medical men to examine Du Paty De Clam, but Col. Jouhaux refused.

Lowland Strong, an English newspaper man, who then called to the witness stand, and deposed to the fact that Maj. Count Esterhazy confessed to him that he wrote the famous letter which claimed the honor of being the first man in France to have declared in favor of Dreyfus.

Business Men Discuss Holding a Celebration of Opening of Blast Furnace.

TO SEE MR. THOMAS

Committee Will Learn His Wishes--To Be Held In October.

The office of L. A. Barnes was filled yesterday afternoon with business men who were called to discuss a celebration at the opening of the blast furnace.

All present were enthusiastically in favor of such a demonstration, but it was decided before proceeding to visit Manager Thomas of the blast furnace and interview him on the matter as it was generally realized that the celebration could not be a genuine success without his assent and co-operation.

L. A. Barnes was chosen as chairman of the meeting and H. W. Lamson as secretary. After an hour's session, it was decided that the celebration should be held in October.

Mr. Barnes made one statement which was the subject of the call of the chairman.

On remarks made at the gathering it was learned that it is the intention to make the celebration an important one and to have excursions run from different parts of the Northwest.

Mr. Doyle made one statement in a short address that met with general approval. He said that he had been unjustly received a bad name abroad because of circulation of the false rumor that the unions of the city were antagonistic to capital and had crushed the life out of industry.

GAIN GROUND STEADILY.

Revolutionists Well Organized and the Government Is Paralyzed.

Kinington, Jamaica, Aug. 25.—Dominican mail dispatches just received here declare that instead of the revolution being invertebrate through lack of organization and government activity, the government of Santo Domingo is really paralyzed, the revolutionary movement having developed high organization, commanding popularity and exciting enthusiasm throughout the republic, even in the interior and capital.

Santiago, it is alleged, is preparing to declare in favor of Jimenez. San Domingo is loyal, but even there revolutionary demonstrations have been forcibly repressed, manifestos of travelers confiscated and several arrests have been made. The government retains no real standing abroad elsewhere.

The movements being national and not merely political, the people are only awaiting the first signal to join him. The government's only reliance is the navy, which is loyal and thus break up the revolution.

SIGNED A CONTRACT

Ferry Difficulty Is Settled By Acceptance of Charles R. Maple.

LULU RAY THE BOAT

Park Pointers Do Not Like Idea of Landing at Fifth Avenue.

The Park Point ferry contract is settled. The boat will be taken today, and the Park Point citizens and cottagers would look wise and remark something about having heard the same statement before, but thought it too good to be true.

The ferry matter was finally disposed of in the office of the board of public works this morning, when Charles R. Maple, owner of the ferryboat, Lulu M. Maple, and President Smith of the board of public works attached their signatures to a contract which both parties claim will end the long drawn out ferry matter.

The contract signed by Capt. Maple provides that the Lulu Ray shall run from Morse street dock to Fifth avenue dock, and that the boat shall be named, "The Lulu Ray." The round trip to be made every fifteen minutes, starting at 6 o'clock in the morning and running till 11 o'clock at night. The city shall provide suitable gates on each dock to keep passengers from crowding on the boat, and Capt. Maple said that late today he would deposit his bond for $500 to fulfill the contract, and also furnish a public liability insurance policy for $500.

Capt. Maple says that the boat will go in the service tomorrow. She arrived from Astoria last evening, and today is being painted up and fixed with conveniences for handling the passenger trade. The boat is sixty-three feet over all, with a twelve-foot beam and draws seven feet and nine inches of water. The hull is reported by the government inspectors to be in the best of condition, and has been in use for many years. The upper works were rebuilt last winter, and the machinery which is now in use was also built by the government. The engine is known as a "thirteen square" high pressure engine, and the boat has carried as high as 150 passengers.

One of the provisions of the contract is that the boat shall only carry freight between the hours of 9 in the morning and 6 in the evening, and that the crew for carrying freight shall be furnished by the city. The city shall also provide suitable waiting rooms, with the necessary fuel and oil, and in all instances a fire engine shall be given preference in crossing the canal.

About the only objection that can be heard regarding the new arrangement came from the property owners of Park Point, who live along the canal. They claim that it is not necessary for the boat to go to Fifth avenue, and that the new arrangement was made for the benefit of a few people who live down on Park Point in the summer and do not pay taxes on the year around. Superintendent L. A. Rus Reports the Progress of Development.

W. C. LaRue, superintendent of the Golden Crescent mine in the Seine River district, is in the city for a few days. He reached Duluth last Monday, but to do so was obliged to canoe and tramp from Mine Center to Harding, as the boat run an excursion to Pt. Frances in honor of the late holiday and did not make its schedule run.

When Mr. LaRue left the main shaft on the 20th, he found the mine in a very good state of development. The shaft was down ninety-five feet. When he resumed work on that shaft the indications were not so satisfactory. The shaft was down ninety-five feet. When he resumed work on that shaft the indications were not so satisfactory.

The shaft makes about 100 gallons of water an hour, but with the steam pump, this amount is practically nothing. The amount of water has been completed and a new little office building near the shaft will be completed after Mr. LaRue's return. Sinking will be pushed to the 200-foot level, at least, before any drifting is done. The ore shoot seems to dip to the westward, and much drifting done at the 100-foot level would about strike the surface of the swamp at the foot of the hill.

While Mr. LaRue did not say so in words, the impression was given that he is well pleased with present conditions at the Golden Crescent and quite hopeful as to the future. He has the reputation among Duluth mining men as being almost ultra conservative, and any favorable expressions from him mean very much.

Mr. LaRue expects to return to Mine Center next Thursday via Port Arthur and Portage, and will be accompanied by Mrs. LaRue.

Michigan Jurist Here.

Hon. C. R. Grant, of Lansing, Mich., chief justice of the supreme court of the state of Michigan, arrived in the city yesterday for a fishing trip, accompanied by his wife, Miss Virginia Grant, Miss Helen E. Jennings and A. F. Jennings. The two last named are from Detroit. Judge Grant is recounting some wonderful fish stories and has been having a fine time. The man says that if he is not mistaken the judge says that he must get two trout at one time.

Must Remove Them.

The board of public works is going after people who allow the streets to be obstructed with building material and other obstructions. President Smith says there is no use of having planks and barrels laying around the principal streets week after a time, and he has served notice on all offenders that if they do not get all obstructions off the streets without delay the city will do it at their expense.

THE HUNTING SEASON.

It Will Open Next Week—No Trout After Sept. 1.

The hunting season takes the place of the fishing season, beginning next Friday, Sept. 1. On that date it will be unlawful to fish for trout until next year. Black bass and other food fish may be caught subject to the regulations, but trout will be under the protection of the law from that date on. Several favorite birds will be subject to shooting if the hunter is skillful enough. Among these are ducks, geese, prairie chicken, snipe and white-breasted grouse. Partridges will not come in until the first of the following month. Those who have been out in the country shoot here say that game is very plentiful this year, and that sportsmen will have all the hunting they want this fall. The wet weather has been favorable for the aquatic fowl, and there has not been too much of it for the land fowl. It is said that partridge and especially plentiful when their time comes. Last year they were scarce, owing to the heavy rains early in the season that killed off the young ones. There were so few that there was not much partridge hunting, so that those that were left had a chance for the fall. This year it is thought that there will be many more than usual, and that hunting will be good.

The State Fair.

The state fair will be bigger and broader than ever as an educational institution this year. The amusement features are more prominent because the city will have more people. The fair will be the only great thing on deck early in September. The fireworks at the evening exhibition from Monday night to Saturday night will cost double the sum expended by either city on any festive occasion. The big high, sixty inches in diameter, the largest ever fired in America, will be sent up every night during the fair. It will explode at a height of 1000 feet and send down a shower of stars that will cover a space as large as four city blocks. Mr. Porter also has a new piece of fireworks that will make a sensation when fired at the fair. It is a bomb that explodes and drops a shower of white stars and at the same time releases another bomb which in turn explodes with a shower of green stars and releases another with red stars and keeps until the air is full of bright stars.

SIEGE STILL ON.

Guerinists Hold the Fort and Throw Bricks at Police.

Paris, Aug. 25.—M. Guerin and his followers, who are still besieged in the quarters of the anti-society league, created some excitement this afternoon by discharging from the windows of the building circulars denouncing the Jews.

When the police prevented the people from picking up the circulars, the Guerinists bombarded the police with bricks.

The police today deluged the walls in the neighborhood of M. Guerin's fort with disintegrators, owing to the unbearable stench since the water supply was cut off.

GETS A GOOD JOB.

A. R. Speel, of St. Paul, Made Chief of Division.

Washington, Aug. 25.—The secretary of war has appointed Alexander R. Speel, of St. Paul, Minn., chief of the division of customs and insular affairs of the war department, in place of M. J. Pershing, who has been ordered to Manila for duty on the staff of Gen. D.

CROCKET MATCH.

Taunton, Eng., Aug. 25.—At the close of play here today, in the cricket match between the Australians and the English, the former team had scored 288 runs for five wickets down.

All $2.50 waists on sale at $1.25. All $2.50 and $4 waists on sale at $1.50. This is unquestionably the best opportunity of the present season to purchase high grade white shirt waists at such low prices, and no doubt the shirt waist department will be crowded with buyers. Say the Sultana Is Sold.

The Chicago Times-Herald publishes a telegram, dated at Duluth, saying that the Sultana mine, near Rat Portage, has been sold. The dispatch was as follows:

"The largest mining deal ever made in the Western Ontario gold fields has just been closed in the sale of the Sultana mine by J. H. Caldwell to the British Capital Corporation, Limited, for $420,000. The mine comprises about seventy acres, with a vein thirty feet wide on the surface, and running about $7 to the ton in gold. It has been owned for three years, with a 10-stamp mill, averaged $300 per week, while with the 20-stamp mill put in last fall the earnings have been at the rate of $15,000 per year. This deal has been on for some time, but the recent issues of Rat Portage papers only reported that it was a rumor that the deal had been closed.

You are "afraid" of being hurt. And you are "afraid" of the expense.

Do not stay away from this office because of these reasons. We can and do surprise you in both. Come before "Mr. Tooth Ache" or "Mr. Swell Face" compels you to go. We use the latest improved methods and appliances which make the extraction of teeth and absolutely painless.

The dentist who tortures you in this age by the old-fashioned antiquated methods is two years behind the times and unworthy of patronage. No matter how bad your teeth may be or how great a number, we extract them absolutely without pain.

We make no charge for extracting teeth when our best rubber or metal plate is used.

GIVEN UP THE IDEA

Eastern Democrats See They Cannot Prevent the Nomination of Bryan.

HIS RUNNING MATE

Steady Growth of Trade Relations Between This Country and Germany.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, Aug. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Eastern Democrats have given up the idea that they can defeat William Jennings Bryan for the Democratic presidential nomination next year.

The plans mapped out by the anti-Bryans in the East, which would have eventually led to the undoing of Bryan, seem to have utterly failed. This is likely due to the fact that the objection to Bryan as a presidential candidate in the East is not so strong as it was in 1896. It was then believed that the country would be wrecked if Mr. Bryan were elected president of the United States. The people seem now to be aware of the fact that this country is too big even for the chief executive to execute any plan by which a revolution could be brought about or any international warfare likely to injure the country for any lengthy period. In this respect the republic of the United States differs from the republic of France. If Mr. Bryan lives, the outlook is that he will be elected as president in 1900. Just as he was before, so now seems to be no possibility that he can be defeated, even though the wealthy Democrats in the East will not contribute to his campaign fund. Of course it is useless for anyone to say that he will be elected as president in 1900. The people will settle this matter to their own satisfaction. Just at this time the prospects are that William McKinley will again have the Republican national ticket and William Jennings Bryan the Democratic ticket. "Mr. McKinley is able to win," says Mr. Bryan, "and he will again be Mr. McKinley's running mate. At this time the probability is that Mr. Bryan will place upon the ticket with him next year."

The Northwestern people do not appear to have any objection to the vice-presidential either on the Republican or Democratic ticket. Mr. Bryan, coming from Nebraska, will, of course, prove to the people of the Dakotas, Minnesota, Montana, Wyoming or Colorado from naming a candidate to run with him in the next campaign. There is a possibility, however, that the Democratic nominee may come from California, and for the vice-presidential ticket, the Democratic Senator Stephen M. White, of Los Angeles, one of the brightest men that the Democrats have had in the national legislature for many years, may be selected to preside over the senate. In the event that the Democratic ticket will be his running mate, will overlook the Dakotas, Montana and Wisconsin, and the Eastern man, without doubt, will be selected for the vice-presidential nomination. As before stated, if Mr. McKinley is elected, he will permit, he will undoubtedly again make the race with Mr. McKinley. He has shown the people this New Jersey statesman, that he is a shrewd politician and a good diplomat so far as dealing with vexed problems is concerned which have confronted the president during the past three years. He has held him out of two or three matters which have given him an amount of trouble, and has, therefore, secured the confidence of the Republican leaders, who will be glad, if the Republicans should win, to have him as adviser for President McKinley for his second term.

Trade relations between the United States and Germany, which are just now the subject of considerable discussion, do not appear to have been seriously affected up to the present time. It is noted by the latest figures of the treasury bureau imports and exports, the commerce between the United States and Germany in 1898 was greater than in 1897, and that the grand total of the commerce between the two countries in 1898 was larger than in any preceding year. The total commerce between the United States and Germany in 1898 was $200,425,174, against $173,530,138 in 1897, and $172,062,182 in 1896, prior to which time the total commerce between the two countries never reached as much as $200,000,000. In 1898 total being $173,530,138, that for 1897 being $173,530,138, and for 1896 being $172,062,182. The imports from Germany in 1898 were $115,356,367, greater than in the preceding year, being $102,742,742 in 1897, and $101,210,014 in 1896. The only year in which the imports from Germany crossed the one hundred million dollar line. The balance of trade in favor of the United States in the fiscal year 1898 was $85,249,088 in 1897, prior to which the balance of trade in favor of the United States was $11,529,436 in 1896, and $85,249,088 in 1897. The balance of trade in favor of the United States in the fiscal year 1898 was $85,249,088, against $11,529,436 in 1897, and $85,249,088 in 1896. During the decade 1889-1898 there have been seven occasions in which the balance of trade was favorable to the United States and Germany, and in which the balance was against it. The total imports into the United States from Germany in the decade 1890-99 were $88,795,062, and the total exports to Germany from the United States $1,038,536,235. The balance of trade in favor of the United States in the full decade being $249,741,173. The following table shows the imports from, and exports to Germany from 1889 to 1898:

Year.	Imports from Germany.	Exports to Germany.
1889	$8,745,746	$9,062,549
1890	$8,847,083	$8,562,312
1891	$7,315,338	$7,355,436
1892	$8,997,563	$9,521,558
1893	$6,296,019	$6,296,019
1894	$8,287,205	$8,287,205

1897	$11,210,614	$12,246,088
1898	$115,356,367	$115,356,367
1899	$124,745	$156,772,279

The following table shows the principal imports from Germany into the United States in 1898, compared with 1897.

KILLED BY DYNAMITE

David J. Sinclair, Formerly of Duluth, Blown Up at Joplin, Mo.

ARE TORN TO PIECES

Five Men Are Blown Into Atoms By the Terrible Explosion.

The many Duluth friends of David J. Sinclair, formerly clerk of district court here, will be shocked to learn of his terrible death by an explosion of dynamite this evening at the Margaret Mining company's mill near Cartersville. The dead are:

David J. Sinclair, Duluth, Minn.
R. J. Robbins, Sedalia, Mo.
Frank Hueston, Joplin.
Will Messmore, Cartersville, Mo.

While Gilbert was engaged in the preparation of a list of dynamite which he held in his hand exploded, and the explosion exploded a box of dynamite that stood near by. The big concentrating plant was demolished and the five men at work there were blown to bits. Portions of their bodies were found hundreds of feet from where they had been working.

The shock of the explosion was felt at Oronogo, three miles away. The plant, which owned by the Republic, was in the interest of a Boston syndicate, and the old Hamilton and McKinley tract of Sedalia, Mo., a real estate agent, accompanied him.

One of the victims, David J. Sinclair, of Sedalia, Mo., a real estate agent, accompanied him. The only persons on the premises that escaped were the miners working in the pit.

FREIMUTH'S FREIMUTH'S FREIMUTH'S

HERE'S A STRIKING CONTRAST in the methods employed in doing business by this store and the so-called up-to-date "only store in the Northwest" methods resorted to by some of our competitors. If we were to make note of every complimentary remark customers make here of the new select fall wares, the columns of this paper would be sufficient to record them. But we prefer to advertise values—to let you know of the many good things we have in store for you daily. It's really ridiculous the way some merchants put themselves on the back, claiming such "exclusiveness," "goodness" of their stocks and fairness of their prices. The markets of the world are open to all and if you don't find certain pieces of goods here that you see elsewhere you can be sure there are some very good reasons for it. Come to headquarters and trade where your money will reach the farthest.
